PRESS QUOTES

“OG8 is a collective of savvy veterans from all over the musical map that converge and play perfectly within the finely crafted songwriting. At the center of all that melodic precision is a stunning vixen with a voice that grinds with grit and soars with unrelenting expression and power. OG8 is coming, and I’m more than a little nervous.”

— Scott Itter, All Music Magazine

“OG8 comes swinging with W.O.M.A.N. — a bold, swagger-soaked rocker with powerhouse vocals and a groove that keeps pushing harder with every beat. This is the kind of rock and roll that demands your attention.”

— Ralph Rasmussen, RadioBypass

ABOUT THE SONGS

CHANGE

the hard rocker, about fear and anticipation of the unknown, leads the listener down a path of taking a leap of faith and letting go in order to Change.

DREAMER

every life has failures and heartbreak but this ballad is a song about believing in yourself even if the fairy tale doesn't have the happy ending you were expecting.

BETTER DAYS

a true 'feel-good' rock anthem about having fun and being able to momentarily letting go of your worries knowing there are better days ahead.

FIRE

watch out, the one you want may not be right for you, but you'll have fun while playing, even though you suspect that you'll get burned!

DESOLATION

in the midst of despair, feeling the void and the pain, you still hold the key to your own salvation. The intense ballad dives into mental health issues associated with suicide.

WILD AND FREE

Rising up against the status quo, it is your right as a human being to decide who you are and what you want to be in order to be true to yourself.

DARK SIDE

losing a loved one to suicide leads to shock, confusion, pain, sadness and anger, but don't surrender to the insanity and lose yourself.

ALIBI

an homage to an old Johnny Cash western that tries to define who the bad guy is and the patterns that allow us to tolerate bad behavior leading to heartbreak.

WOMAN

the bad ass female empowered anthem, with a mean sax solo, encourages women to stand tall and own themselves no matter what.
